Hey Matt,
Hope you're doing well, just wondering if you heard anything else after we lost the contract? It's been silent on my end. I feel horrible about everything, and responsible. I wish I could have done more. I tried so hard to get a trusted Apple Business Developer account to show those guys at the that we can integrate with their solutions and we could use Apple's API in a different way, but my company Zroblack couldn't get verified after I tried 2 times because my former business partner refused to transfer the Apple account information over to me every time Apple called him.

I'm on the hunt for another contract, and I'll let you know if I find anything. Again, I just wanted to apologize because its weighing heavy on me.

Speak soon, Jonathan Villarreal
